The Vicar Writes

'Comings and Goings'. That's the phrase I have been pondering as I write this just ahead of Advent Sunday 2025.

Let me deal with the goings first. We will be saying a farewell to Angela at the end of November - but, as I and she have been at pains to point out, it is by no means a final farewell.

I speak not only as the vicar but also as a parent of young people who were at primary school when Angela joined our parish team. I know how much we as a family have been blessed by Angela's infectious enthusiasm and energy as well as her deep spirituality and prayerful care.

We are excited that Angela will continue to serve with Street Puppets, a programme which has developed as part of her service here in Holywood. Many of you have seen this work grow over the last few years and will want to continue to support it as it reaches even more school children. Please look out for ways in which you can play your part and, of course, keep Angela in your prayers.

In terms of the anticipated arrivals, I have in mind the Advent hope, looking towards the second coming of Christ. I am encouraging parishioners to join me daily for prayer and Holy Communion. Daily Morning prayer takes about 15 minutes at 7.30am, Monday to Saturday, and it is particularly special in the dark mornings of Advent to dedicate the day to God and seek his direction. Come and join us if you can.

Next - we have the celebration of Christ's coming at Christmas. I am delighted at the plans staff members and many volunteers have put in place for Christmas events and services this year. See elsewhere in the magazine how we plan to go out and visit homes as well as welcome people in this Christmas.

And lastly, before the next edition of the magazine, a new year will dawn. I am confident in Christ that God has much in store for us in 2026. The reason I can have this bold confidence is the promise of scripture; the Lord watches over our comings and goings both now and forevermore (Psalm 121:8).

I pray that you know Christ's richest blessing this Advent, Christmas and New Year.

Yours in Christ,
Gareth

Notes from the magazine team

Hello readers,

Last month I told you we had a new email address for the magazine... this month I'm saying the same thing again! The new new (and this time here to stay) email address is editor@holywoodparishchurch.co.uk

Thank you to everyone who sent content to the magazine@ inbox. Having a dedicated email made the process of putting together the magazine so much easier to manage. We've tweaked the address a little to deter spam bots so please make a note of the new and improved, editor@holywoodparishchurch.co.uk and use it to share all your fabulous contributions. And what a lot of contributions there are this month!

The first I'll mention is Angela's report on her recent trip to Cambodia with Eggshells. The magazine cover photo was taken at one of the Bible club sessions. There is also a look ahead from Angela as she prepares for her new big venture with Street Puppets. There are reports on Mothers' Union activities, the recent Asha fund raising concert spear headed by Peter Crookes, the Fellowship group meal, the activities of CSMI and more! There is also a magnificent selection of photographs (courtesy of David Ivery) reminding us of the incredible Remembrance Sunday installation, crafted by Close Knit.

There are plenty of opportunities to get in the festive spirit and help others. From our standing Storehouse ask, to donating (unwrapped!) gifts to the Salvation Army Christmas appeal, and the CMSI Advent Appeal - there are plenty of ways to get involved.

You will also notice more than a couple of mentions of Angels in this magazine. Gareth has been working hard to organise the next stage of the 72 - Operation Angel. If you haven't already got in touch, please speak to him urgently if you'd like to get involved.

This is the last magazine of the year and the next will be available in Februrary 2026. Please send all content to the new email address by 23rd January.

All that remains to be said is that I wish you a very merry Christmas and a happy new year! Sally

The Church of Ireland GAZETTE

Reflections and highlights on the Church of Ireland's monthly magazine, by Betty McLaughlin

Archbishop of Canterbury to be Sarah Mullally

The Right Reverend and Right Honourable Dame Sarah Mullally DBE has been named as the new Archbishop of Canterbury, becoming the first woman to hold the role in its 1,400-year history. The announcement came on 3rd October, almost a full year after The Right Reverend Justin Welby stepped down from the role following the damning Makin Review into safeguarding failures within the Church of England.

Bishop Mullally used her first statement as Archbishop-Designate to express her gratitude for the appointment, and to address current issues facing the Church on both local and global levels. The statement outlined the bishop's chief concerns, including assisted dying, refugees, the complex question of national identity, and discrimination. Safeguarding issues were also flagged as a major focus for the new archbishop, who expressed her determination to 'listen to survivors, care for the vulnerable, and foster a culture of safety and well-being for all.' The Most Reverend John McDowell, Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of All Ireland, offered his best wishes to the bishop as she takes up the role, wishing to 'assure her of the prayers of the members of the Church of Ireland as she enters into this challenging and important role in the life of the Anglian Communion.'

Bishop Mullally will be installed as the 106th Archbishop of Canterbury on the Feast of the Annunciation, 25th March 2026.

GAFCON schism - Church of Ireland: United or Fractured

This was the heading on the front cover of the November edition of the Gazette, with lengthy articles regarding GAFCON - the Global Anglican Future Conference. Those wishing to read further on the subject can do so by obtaining a copy of the Gazette.

Early printed books in the RCB Library

November's Archive of the Month turns to the Representative Church Body (RCB) Library's little-known printed collection, with specific focus on early printed illustrations, woodcuts, and wood engraving. This includes many of the earliest editions of the Book of Common Prayer, and many other texts in a variety of languages including English, Irish, Latin, German, French, Spanish, Italian, and Greek. Several volumes were originally printed using manual printing presses.

The first foray into adding images to printed text was undertaken in Europe in the 15th century using wood, knives, black ink, and the creative use of white space. These earliest 'mass'-produced images are of many different things: elaborate title pages, initial letters, line borders, and part- or full-page illustrations.

In understanding these developments, we must first consider the fundamental materials of early printing: paper, ink, and the printing press itself.

Paper originally came to Europe in the early 12th century, and was made by changing raw material (undyed linen or hempen) into pulp, which was then scooped into a mould and deckle frame to form flat pieces of paper. Ink was made from colour and varnish. The colour was produced by burning resin, condensing its smoke and adding a mix of oil and resin. Adding resin helped prevent the ink spreading on the paper. The first printed books using woodcut decorations are believed to have been produced in the mid- to late-15th century. The ability to print text and illustrations together, and to sell multiple prints of the same book, changed printing forever. Religious orders, churches, and royalty could afford to employ those undertaking these intense techniques. Illustrations in early Bibles made them appeal to less learned readers, who could understand the pictures rather than having to read text. 'Close Knit' Remembrance poppy cascade

‘Close Knit’ Remembrance poppy cascade

A cascade of hand-crafted poppies greeted those who attended the recent Remembrance Day services - a striking tribute to the fallen created by the parish’s community knitting group, Close Knit. Formed in 2013 as a space for those who ‘enjoyed knitting to meet together with a purpose’, the group currently has ten active members.

Inspired earlier this year by a poppy curtain in a Belfast church, they decided to create their own Remembrance display - and the result transformed the church entrance into a moving memorial of colour and care. Using a pattern from The Royal British Legion, members spent several months knitting and crocheting more than 700 poppies, joined by friends and family who added their own stitches of remembrance. The finished flowers were pinned to a long roll of bird-netting in a sweeping fan shape, secured to a 3.5 metres high frame built specially for the occasion.

One member said: “We had great fun working together on this project and found it very rewarding; we were also delighted by the positive comments of our vicar as well as those who attended the Remembrance Day services”. The cascade will be carefully stored for future years - a lasting symbol of remembrance and community spirit.

To date the ‘Close Knit’ group has supplied blankets for Uganda’s Kkalwe project supported by Holywood parish and Waakisa Ministries, contributed to memory boxes for the Stillborn and Neonatal Death Support (Sands), produced ‘Trauma Teddies’ for the emergency services and knitted hats for premature and newborn babies in the Royal Jubilee Maternity Hospital.

Anyone interested in joining the group, please contact Margaret Ivery via the parish office.

Entertaining Angels Unawares
Hebrews 13:2

If you live within the parish boundaries, you may be visited by 'angels' in the early part of December. "Do not be afraid!"

Our angels (the word just means messengers) will be distributing invitations to our services in the form of a booklet with an angelic theme. They will also deliver small hanging ornaments that the recipient can use or embellish and return for display in church.

We are keen to connect with as many people in the community as possible so we hope to visit approximately 5000 homes. This is a fun logistical exercise; we will try and avoid doubling up! If you live outside the parish boundaries and would like to receive an angel, please get in touch with us through the parish office.

Please encourage friends, family and neighbours to come along to the busy programme of services and events around Christmas and New Year. Thank you to everyone taking part in the distribution.

Do not forget to show hospitality to strangers, for by so doing some people have shown hospitality to angels without knowing it.

Men's Society

In November, we welcomed Mr Stewart McClean to our meeting who gave us a talk on the life of Blair "Paddy" Maine. A full report on the meeting will be published in February.

Our next meeting is on 2nd December. We shall welcome Mr Peter Heaney from Trócaire to tell us about how it helps in international aid.

For membership enquiries, please contact Robert Bussell, Honorary Secretary: robertbussell@me.com 07710762323

Fellowship Group Meal - 6th November 2025

Such an enjoyable evening we all had at the recent Fellowship Group Meal. In a warmly lit room the tables were decorated with small cyclamen plants and on top of each red napkin was a little card with a meaningful Bible verse. Tom & Hazel welcomed us very warmly and Simon accompanied our singing with his usual musical expertise.

Gareth briefly and lightheartedly interviewed his friend, the guest speaker, Craig Cooney. Craig is Senior Leader of Hope Church, Craigavon. Then we were all treated to a delicious meal prepared for us by our in-house Masterchef, Ruth and her team of expert cooks. Each fellowship group provided a dessert and these too were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Thank you to everyone involved.

Craig was extremely enthusiastic and shared with us a bit of his background working in different churches, giving examples of how his prayers have been answered many times over the years. His emphasis was on the vital importance of prayer and he shared a few novel ways of praying alone or in a group, such as just even taking a line out of a favourite hymn or Psalm & blessing someone with it.

I remember when I first joined Florence Monroe's Fellowship Group most of us were afraid to pray out loud. We felt that other people were much better at praying than us and probably knew their Bible better too.

Craig brought a warmth and enthusiasm to our ears and hearts and the overall feeling from the evening was one of great thankfulness that we can be in groups who care for each other & pray together (not necessarily out loud)! I value being a part of a Fellowship Group more than I can describe here. We are growing in our knowledge of the Bible whilst also enjoying good, honest company with no one feeling embarrassed to ask questions.

If you're not already in a Fellowship Group I hope you might consider joining or forming one. The little card which was sitting on my napkin had the following verse on it, "Do not be anxious about anything, but in every situation, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving present your requests to God". Phil 4:6

STREET PUPPETS

Goodbye, But Not Goodbye!

- Angela Megarry

Confused? Hopefully this will help! After eight years, I have stepped back from my role as a Family and Kids Worker at Holywood Parish. During this time, with the support of Gareth and the wider church, we developed a two-hour "Say No To Drugs" workshop designed for primary school children and Year 8 students. The workshop aims to empower young people to confidently refuse drugs and navigate the intense peer pressure they encounter in schools.

I believe that, with God's help, we can positively impact the future of every child who participates in this workshop - saving lives is our ultimate goal.

If you know of a school that is special to you or your family and would like to see this workshop implemented there, please reach out to me. Together, we can make this happen.

The intention is to offer these workshops free of charge, but I need sponsors to support this initiative. I am grateful to have secured a couple of sponsors already and for their financial assistance.

We are also in the process of establishing Street Puppets as a charity and, in God's timing, we will have our charity number set up soon.

So, while I am saying goodbye to my role as an employee of Holywood Parish, I still very much need your support for this new project. I strongly believe in staying within a Church setting for support, especially prayer and guidance.

As I bid farewell to my role as a Family and Kids Worker, I want to extend my heartfelt thanks to all of you for your incredible support. You have patiently and lovingly engaged in every activity I proposed, whether it was making teas and coffees, building sand pits, creating hay stacks, painting murals, constructing picnic tables, or crafting planters and gazebos, among many other endeavours.

Take a look at the parachute photo; I have a special fondness for parachutes, and they are by far my favourite game to play with young people. Whenever I think of parachutes, I will remember my time spent with all of you, filled with joy and laughter through both the highs and lows. I have had the privilege of working alongside gifted individuals with Godly hearts who truly live out their faith in practical ways.

You allowed me to be myself, which is more than I could have ever hoped for - thank you.

When engaging in the parachute game, it's essential to have many hands on the chute to make it work. Keep your hands joined together, united in every situation, and continue to serve within the Church of God, filled with fun and laughter. Don't stop; don't let go of each other.

This game also creates ample opportunities for others to join in, so keep inviting and bringing others along to experience the wonderful community that Holywood offers.

I hope to see you all in and around the Parish, and am also free to come and chat to groups. Keep up with what I am doing through Facebook - follow Street Puppets NI.

A Musical evening in support of Asha: a review

On 1st November, Peter Crookes and Gareth Lewis promised a musical evening of 'Fun and Romance' in support of the work of Asha in the slums of Delhi. Canon Gareth introduced the artists, Peter on violin, and his friend Gareth on piano and the wonderfully refurbished Elgar Organ.

Rosemary Jayne, backed by visuals on the screens, gave a brief background to the work of Asha as beneficiaries of the concert, and the achievements of Dr Kiran Martin who for 40 years has dedicated her life to the care of slum dwellers in Delhi, providing medical aid, sanitation and educational opportunities for many children and their families.

Turning to the aforementioned 'Fun and Romance' - Peter's enthusiastic passion for his instrument was evident, as was his skill and the close interaction with Gareth as they shared their selection of music with the appreciative audience. The concert opened with Sonata no. 3 in C Minor by Edward Grieg, followed by Imperial March for Organ, written by Edward Elgar to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee Anniversary of Queen Victoria in 1897. With romance in mind, a talented Polish violin player and composer, Henryk Wieniawski, wrote a special work to show the parents his passionate love of their 16-year-old daughter, hoping to convince them that he would be a worthy husband. He invited them to a private concert, won their approval, and her hand in marriage!

Peter's sister, Helen, and her Asha Team friends served a delicious variety of savoury and sweet choices and hot drinks during the interval. Helen's talents of menu choice and presentation were clear for all to see. Gareth then treated us to Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue before a variation on a Christmas Carol by Marcel Dupre which showed the resources and talents of Gareth at the organ. Music by Marguerite Monnot - a French composer made famous by Edith Piaf - followed, along with Tango Por una Cabeza by Carlos Gardei. We learned that Shostakovich composed his Waltz from Jazz Suite no. 2 on a train journey in Canada in 1938 and the concert concluded with the well known 'Hoe-down' from Rodeo!

Jayne spoke of her life-changing experience visiting Delhi and getting back to Ireland just before Covid lockdown! Hazel brought the excellent evening's concert to a close, thanked all who had contributed to its success and revealed that, as Peter had most generously covered the expenses of the event, all funds raised would go directly to the funds of Asha.

Mothers' UNION
Christian care for families

It was wonderful to welcome so many members to our meeting on 5th November and to see the Christmas hamper for Storehouse so full. What a generous response. Thank you to everyone for the gifts, also for your donations to Women's Aid, Bangor which have been used to buy Tesco vouchers. Thank you also to Linda for delivering the hamper and the vouchers.

The title for the meeting was "Smugglers' Adventures". What was being smuggled? – Bibles! Helen Thornton, one of our new members, told us about her smuggling escapades thirty years ago when she responded to an appeal from Open Doors to become a "donkey" and carry heavy loads (Bibles) into China.

At that time Protestant churches in China had been brought under Communist Party control. The Government ran the church, known as The Three-Self Patriotic Movement (self-governing, self-supporting, self-propagating) and any churches refusing to join were closed. Christian meetings were forbidden but, even knowing they could lose their freedom or be transported to labour camps in remote areas, many Christians felt that to join a government-controlled church would be to compromise their faith. Despite extreme opposition they met secretly in small house groups. Bibles, however, were hard to come by, hence the need for donkeys.

Along with six other women Helen travelled to Hong Kong for her three-week adventure. From Kow Loon she made four trips to different parts of China. The mission was to take bags containing Bibles and other Christian literature through customs to the left-luggage department of a pre-arranged hotel where they would later be retrieved by a local Chinese person. No easy task for a westerner trying to remain inconspicuous while feeling constantly watched! We could empathise with Helen's feeling of failure when she was caught and the books confiscated on her first two trips, both to Guangzhou (formerly Canton) and we could also appreciate the feeling of joy when the following two trips to Hainan and Beijing were both successful.

Helen's description of the difficulties she encountered, including tales of cockroaches and lizards sharing their living accommodation, brought to life the many challenges the donkeys faced but were nothing compared to what Chinese Christians were prepared to suffer.

From her adventure Helen told us she learned four things: to value the Word of God, to let God be in control, that God just needs willing hearts and obedience and most of all that God will provide. Thank you, Helen, for sharing your story.

Diocesan Events
On Wednesday 19th November we were delighted to welcome members from Mothers' Union branches across the diocese to the Autumn Council meeting. It was good to hear the reports from the trustees and to renew friendships. Next year is the 150th anniversary of the founding of Mothers' Union so much planning is underway.

On Saturday 29th November a service in Saintfield Parish church marked the beginning of the 16 days of activism against gender-based violence. The campaign this year focuses on addressing and preventing violence against women online.

Looking Ahead
Our next meeting is for Christmas Dinner at 6.00pm on Wednesday 10th December at Holywood Golf Club, always a relaxing and enjoyable evening together.

The first meeting of 2026 is on 7th January when we look forward to hearing from Angela about her trip to Cambodia.

Eggshell Cambodia's 2025 team

Eggshell is the charity we travelled to support. Mark and Liz, a couple from the village of Dundonald, sold their home in Northern Ireland to build a daycare for vulnerable young children aged 1 to 7 years in a village nicknamed "Where No One Wants to Live."

Firstly, a big thank you to everyone who supported us with prayers and financial contributions that made this trip possible. With the money gathered in Northern Ireland between the two churches, we were able to bless the daycare and the village.

Eggshell's work in this village can be likened to a lighthouse shining God's love and presence in a very dark and troubled place. The children are safe in this daycare, protected from harm, and surrounded by Christian workers who have found faith through the mission of Eggshell.

During our time there, we interacted with the children and staff, we delivered Bible holiday clubs at the daycare, and Bible clubs and English classes for older children in the village (with over 100 kids attending), and engaged in street activities in the city with another charity called Hard Places. We distributed food parcels and offered prayers for families in the village, and in return, they blessed us with smiles and joy.

Meet This Year's 2025 Cambodia Team

This year, our team consists of seven members from Ballyhenry Presbyterian Church and one from Holywood Parish.

I am incredibly grateful for all the opportunities that arose in Cambodia and for the beautiful people we met, who showed such humility. This experience has further cemented my determination to support and pray for the work of Eggshell.

Advent Appeal - Restoring Hope.

Apart from our parish's special link with Maridi, the Dioceses of Down and Dromore have been invited to support a special project.

The Family Centre in Maridi has been a sanctuary for women traumatised by war to find healing, learn skills, and support their families. It is now facing demolition due to road expansion works, with no offers of compensation. Without the Centre, vulnerable people will lose access to vital services: trauma counselling, vocational training, family life education and youth outreach.

The diocese wishes to raise £40,000 to rebuild in a safe, permanent location.

Donations can be made through our parish - in particular on Sunday 7th December but throughout Advent. Please ensure that envelopes are clearly marked or that you inform the treasurer or contact the office so that support can be channelled directly.

In a similar vein, the most recent link letter from Andrew and Joanne Quill is available to collect from the church.

Their specific requests are also around healing in different ways:

- Community Health Empowerment to be established in a second archdeaconry;
- follow up and discipleship in parishes where the Jesus film has been shown;
- God's hand over all the Ibba Day preparations that all will run successfully and for safety for all those travelling;
- that guest leaders coming from other areas of South Sudan will be inspired to find ways to work for and promote peace in their areas;
- peace in South Sudan

Christmas Appeal

Please bring a gift for the Salvation Army Appeal. Collections will be taken in the church or church hall. Please bring items unwrapped, either clothes, toys or tinned biscuits.

Gifts for teenagers are particularly welcome.

Items will be collected until Sunday 14th December.

Please speak to Maureen Quinn if you have any questions.

Storehouse North Down Christmas Appeal

The trolley is in place at the back of the church, ready to take donations throughout the year.

Please consider picking up some extra items when doing your own Christmas shopping to support the work of Store House North Down.

Cut out and keep this list for your next 'big shop'.

- Cuppa soup
- Long life milk
- Tinned ham
- Tinned custard
- Dilute juice
- Tinned soup
- Pasta
- Rice
- Baby food
- Washing up liquid
- Beans
- Soap
